General Plan

Community Character

City Perspective

This is an oblique view of the Tri-City area, generated from USGS Digital Elevation Model data and Fremont GIS data, looking northwest from the southern Fremont-Milpitas border.

Fremont is largely defined by its open space frame, including the Fremont hills to the east, the baylands to the west (Don Edwards National Wildlife Refuge) and open space to the northwest.

Its overall position within the urban context of the Bay Area is defined by adjacent communities; Union City to the north, Milpitas to the south, and Newark to the west.
